FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PARENTS' ORIENTATION DAY AT USD SEPT. 1

Faculty and administrators of the University of San Diego expect to welcome 800 parents at an Orientation Day program on September 1.

As part of the event, parents are invited to attend a meeting in Camino Theater at 2:30 p.m. where USD President Author E. Hughes and Vice President and Dean of Student Affairs Thomas F. Burke will welcome and speak to parents of incoming students. Following the meeting in Camino Theater, a reception will be held at 3:00 p.m. on Founders Patio.

Parents' Orientation Day begins a week-long series of events for incoming freshman and transfer students at USD. According to Associate Dean of Student Affairs, Thomas Cosgrove, "While the orientation program is mainly for students, parents are extremely important. This is a big step for the students, but it is also a big step for their parents. We try to make the transition to college life easier and want to assure parents that their children will be in good hands, that we are ready to give the students all the attention they will need."
